

HOUSE AND SENATE.

Proceedings of Both Branches of Congress.

BUT LITTLE ACCOMPLISHED.

The Subject of the Force Bill Brought Up in the House—The Apportionment Bill Discussed in the Senate—Other Dispatches from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—In the house yesterday, after the approval of the journal, Mr. Springer, rising to a question of privilege, offered a resolution reciting that on Monday on the yeas and nays on the approval of the journal the recapitulation of the votes had been dispensed with without unanimous consent, the speaker had declined to order a recapitulation on demand and had refused to entertain an appeal from his decision, and declaring such action of the speaker was unlawful, and if unchecked would permit the precedent to go with the apparent approval of the house, and Mr. McKinley made the point of order that the resolution was not a privileged one—the speaker having a right under the rules to decide a motion to be dilatory. The point of order was sustained by the speaker. Mr. Springer appealed from the decision of the chair, and on motion by Mr. McKinley the appeal was laid on the table.

A bill was passed for a bridge across the Missouri between Council Bluffs and Omaha. The house then went into committee of the whole on the Military academy bill. During general debate on the bill Rogers of Arkansas referred to the recent Indian war as unprovoked and undefensible.

Flower of New York followed in the same strain.

Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, speaking of the elections, said his passage would result in the prostration of the prosperity just dawning on the south.

Mr. Spindler was criticizing the "force bill" when Mr. Bland interrupted with a request to "yield" while he made a motion to "lay the force bill on the table." Mr. Spindler, continuing, expressed his doubt about the force bill being quite dead and said he would not believe it was until he saw it placed in its grave, the soil thrown on it and the benediction delivered.

After further debate the house adjourned.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The senate yesterday approved the journal of Thursday covering the proceedings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday and Monday. The credentials of Mr. Stanford and of Mr. Irby, as senators from California and South Carolina for term beginning March 4, next were presented and filed. Mr. Hoar criticized those of Mr. Stanford as unsatisfactory in form—the governor undertaking to commission Mr. Stanford instead of simply certifying to his election. Mr. Hoar offered a resolution authorizing the select committee on relations with Canada to continue its sittings during the common recess and the next session—referred.

Mr. Dolph's resolution relating to the power of a minority of the senate to compel the attendance of absent members was taken up, but went over under objection.

At 2 o'clock the apportionment bill was taken up, and Mr. Davis spoke in support of his amendment to increase the total number of representatives from 356 (as proposed in the house bill) to 360, and giving an additional member to Arkansas, Minnesota, Missouri and New York. Mr. Berry also argued in support of the amendment, and Mr. Hisecock and Mr. Hale against it. Without action the senate went into executive session, and at 5:15 p. m. adjourned.

Force Bill and the South.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—President Polk, of the Farmers' Alliance, speaking of the complications which have arisen through the action of some of the southern legislatures in declining to participate in the world's fair in the event of the passage of the elections bill, said: "The truth about the matter is that the direct results from the world's fair are to come by inducing immigration and the investment of capital. For obvious reasons the people of the south feel that they will get more benefit from the fair than any other section. They feel that this elections measure whatever its merits are, will be converted into a sectional issue. They feel that sectional agitators, both north and south, will make it a bloody shirt issue for 1892. If this view is correct, as I believe it is, its effect will neutralize any effort we may make at Chicago to induce capital and labor to the southern states. It will thus not only check the material progress now developing in the south but will retard it for years to come. The views of the great industrial organizations of the country are succinctly and unequivocally expressed in resolutions on the subject of suffrage adopted by the Confederation on Friday, which is broad enough, just enough, equitable enough for any American citizen to stand upon."

Effects of the Storm.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The storm of Monday morning, which was very severe here, was much worse further north, and has resulted in complete prostration of telegraph service north of Baltimore. It is estimated that about 1,000 poles are down in the district and telegraph, telephone and electric light wires inextricably tangled and broken. Wires west are but little better. About 1,000 are reported down between Washington and Grafton, W. Va., and the lines will probably have to be rebuilt. The wreck is more complete and covers a wider area than that of the celebrated blizzard of three years ago. Western Union officials think that it will be at least three days before direct communication can be established to New York.

BIG SUIT BEGUN.

A Kentuckian's Case Against a New York Broker.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Joshua J. Green, of Versailles, Ky., has begun suit in the superior court against James F. O'Shaughnessy to recover $150,000 in nominal value of cotton-seed oil trust certificates. He says that in 1887 he borrowed $118,000 from the defendant and gave the certificates as a collateral. The loan was for six months but he claims that before the expiration of this period the defendant sold the certificates, realizing between $160,000 and $490,000.

He charges that the action of the defendant was part of a conspiracy between him and John L. Macanley and K. V. Lewis to wreck the trust. The money which the defendant realized, he says, was used for the defendant's own purse. The defendant says that the certificates were sold because of other stock transactions. He claims he was carrying other stock for the plaintiff in which he had put up $5,000 in margins and that he sold the certificates to save himself from loss.

The plaintiff secured an order for the examination of the defendant before trial which Judge Dugro set aside.

WHITE CAPPERS IN COURT.

The Trial of the Outlaws Begun at Anderson, Indiana.

ANDERSON, Jan. 28.—After a heroic effort of two days upon the part of the defense to avoid going into trial in the famous White Cap cases, the judge overruled their motion for a change of venue yesterday evening, and work at selecting a jury to try the cases was begun. The trial will likely continue a week or two. Heron Richardson, a well-to-do farmer, is the first to be tried. He is the captain of the midnight riders who served White Cap notices, mutilated stock and destroyed farm machinery. The offenses occurred in May, 1890, three miles southeast of this city. The outrages committed by the cappers have no equal in the category of crime. The cause of the depredations resulted from the enforcement of the stock law. Ethan Cox, supervisor, received a notice to cease impounding stock under penalty of death.

The court room is packed to suffocation, and no case has ever been tried in the circuit court that has excited so much interest.

A PLUCKY SCHOOL TEACHER.

He Locks the Door and Knocks Out Five of His Young Men Pupils.

ANDERSON, Ind., Jan. 28.—Edgar Farmer, teacher of Mount Hope school, a suburb of this city, Monday attempted to punish Charlie Delph, a young man, for obscene conduct toward the girl pupils of the school. He resisted, and was aided by four of his schoolmates, who attempted to do the plucky teacher. The latter threw off his coat, locked the door and sailed in. He fought the entire party to a finish, and came out with colors flying. After giving the refractory pupils a thorough drubbing blacking their eyes and smashing their noses, they gave in and acknowledged themselves whipped. Mr. Farmer then resumed the adys' program as though nothing had occurred.

Gen. Miles Back in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—The special train bearing Gen. Miles and staff, with two coaches full of Indians and a detachment of the Sixth cavalry, reached here from Rushville, Neb., at a late hour last night. The three chiefs who inaugurated the ghost dancing craze among the Sioux—Kicking Bear, Short Bull and Scatter Brain—with twenty-two young warriors, will be confined at Fort Sheridan. The Indians who are to pay a visit to the president are in charge of Special Agent Lewis, of the interior department. He has instructions to take them direct to Washington.

Run Down by a Motor Car.

OMAHA, Jan. 28.—Peter Duffy, a salesman, was run down by Motor No. 60, on the Walnut Hill line about 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening, and was almost instantly killed. Duffy was driving along the street car track when the car came rushing down the hill toward him. He tried to turn his horses out of the track, but the wheels slipped, and instead of mounting the rails, held the buggy inside. The car plunged into the rig, and Duffy fell on the rails. Both his hips were crushed by the motor, and he died shortly afterward.

Paper Mill Blown Up.

STERLING, Ill., Jan. 28.—The Rock Falls paper mill was blown up by an explosion of "bleach" yesterday evening at 6:30. The mill was demolished. Two men, John Meyers and Alonzo Bell, have been taken from the ruins dead. Three or four other workmen are missing and are supposed to be in the ruins. The accident happened just at the hour of the day when day and night forces were changing place, and as many were coming and going it is impossible to know who is missing.

Fatal Shooting Affray.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28.—J. B. Davis was instantly killed and his brother Samuel, fatally injured in a shooting affray with David Leatherman, at Pointe Coupee parish. The news of the affair has just reached here. The Davis brothers quarreled with Leatherman about the settlement of an account, and finally pistols were drawn with the above result. The coroner's jury decided that Leatherman acted in self-defense, and has released him from custody.

The Law to Be Enforced.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The treasury department having been informed that the regulations in regard to the inspection of meat cattle imported from Canada were not being observed in the Plattsburg, N. Y., district, has called the attention of the collector to the fact in a letter, which will doubtless cause the observance of the department's regulations in the future.

MINE EXPLOSION.

One Hundred and Ten Men Killed.

OTHERS STILL IMPRISONED.

The Mine on Fire, and It Is Feared That Many of the Unfortunate Miners Will Be Burned to Death Before They Can Be Rescued.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 28.—A terrible mine explosion occurred at the mammoth works of the H. C. Frick Coke company at Mammoth, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, killing 110 men and imprisoning about ninety others. Sixty of the dead bodies have already been recovered.

The mine is on fire, and it is thought that many of the unfortunates will be burned to death before it is possible to reach them. An army of men are at work in the pit endeavoring to stay the fire and recover the dead bodies. They are making but little headway.

The Mammoth works are on the Sewickly branch of the Southwest branch railroad, and are about half way between Latrobe and this place. The telegraph and telephone wires are in trouble, and even the Frick employees are almost entirely without definite information. At the time of the accident there were about 100 men at work in the shaft, which is not very deep.

The names of the identified are as follows:

The other bodies taken from the mines are so horribly mutilated that they cannot be identified. As they are brought out the bodies are removed to one of the company's houses and prepared for burial. Several undertakers are engaged at this work.

There is little information regarding the horror. Everybody in the pit was killed. The position of their bodies told the story of their end. The force of the explosion was felt for miles around and caused a panic among the pupils in the township school house nearly a mile away. The men employed in the Mammoth No. 2, separated by one hundred acres of coal, felt the shock and were the first to sound the alarm.

Superintendent Keighley, a thoroughly competent man sent to all of the company's mines in the district for aid and from 10 o'clock yesterday morning until midnight an army of men were engaged in carrying out the dead.

The scenes around the shaft mouth are indescribable. Mothers, sisters, children and old men crowd about eager to recognize their loved ones. Their wailings and shrieks of anguish strike terror to the stoutest heart. Scarce a house in the hamlet but is in mourning, and the work of carrying out the dead continues. The disaster is the greatest that ever occurred in the Connellsville coke region. The cause of the explosion is unknown. The mine has been working for five years, and there has never been even a suspicion of gas there.

Mine Boss Eaton, who escaped about one minute before the fatal explosion, is the only individual remaining to relate the story.

John Boles, whose brother is in the fatal shaft relates the following story: "About 9 o'clock in the morning we heard a loud report in the direction of the shaft. We immediately started to the opening, only to find a suffocating volume of smoke and gas gushing therefrom, and at once knew what was wrong. We began the work of subduing the flames and clearing the shaft of gas. This we accomplished by starting the large fans. I am convinced that every man who was in the shaft at the time was killed, either by falling timbers or by asphyxiation."

District Master Workman Wise has issued an appeal to the miners and coke workers throughout the coke regions for prompt contributions in aid of the families of the unfortunate victims of the disaster.

The news of the explosion was received by H. C. Frick in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon. Mr. Frick was filled with consternation at the extent of the disaster. He said: "We have never had an accident like this in any of our mines. The Mammoth plant was thought to be in the safest of hands, when we gave it in charge of Mine Inspector Fred Keighley. No expense has been spared to make our mines as safe as possible."

Twenty-five trimmed coffins were shipped from Pittsburgh to Mount Pleasant yesterday evening. Another lot of seventy-five has been ordered for shipment.

One hundred and ten men were employed in that part of the mine in which the explosion occurred and not one was left to tell the story of the disaster. Not more than fifty of the men were killed by the explosion. The others were overcome by the afterdamp and while some of the bodies are horribly torn, burned and mutilated others were found with their teeth clinched on the iron rail of the pit road. Others were found with faces plunged into the water and not a few were found upon their knees as if engaged in prayer.

Fire Boss Sneath was identified by his gun boots. His body was scattered about in a dozen places. His head was torn from his shoulders. Both legs were torn off, and that part of his body recovered was roasted and blackened. His left hand, clutching his lamp, was found over 100 feet from the trunk of his body. One of his gun boots was found fifty yards away; one of his feet, with part of a leg attached, was found also. When the parts of his body were collected and sent in a sheet to the pit mouth they were identified by an engineer recognizing the boots.

The Westmoreland county coroner is at the scene, and is preparing for an investigation.

MORE DANGEROUS THAN INDIANS. A Train Load of Soldiers Return from Pine Ridge Wrecked.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 28.—A disastrous collision between the northbound regular passenger train and a southbound special occurred on the Blue Valley railroad at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at Florence, a small station five miles south of Irving. The special was carrying about 100 soldiers, part of the Seventh cavalry and Battery E, light artillery, bound for Fort Riley, on their way home from Pine Ridge Agency.

The dead, so far as can be ascertained, are:

Sergt. Schorbat, Battery E, artillery, cut all to pieces.

Private McIl, Troop G, Seventh cavalry, left leg cut off and head smashed.

The most severely injured are:

Sergt. Sharp, Troop G, Seventh cavalry, right arm broken.

Capt. Godfrey, Troop E, leg and shoulder injured.

Sergt. Wirtz, Troop C, internal injury.

Private McGuire, Troop C, left side and face badly scalded.

Private Erick, Troop E, right arm broken and hand cut.

Lizzie Bonnet, of Lincoln, Neb., right arm broken and forehead cut.

PINIONED UNDER A BOILER.

Probably Fatal Accident at the Big Four Freight Depot in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 28.—William Kelly, employed on the new freight depot of the Big Four railway on Harrison avenue, while engaged in raising a large boiler in the rear part of the building, was fatally hurt at noon. He was stationed at a jack-screw and was stooping under the boiler, in the act of setting the jack, when it slipped, letting the boiler down on the unfortunate fellow.

He was pinned to the floor, and his agonizing screams could be heard for squares. A large force of workmen were called, and after some time the boiler was raised, and Kelly was taken out more dead than alive. He received probably fatal internal injuries besides a broken right leg and left arm. He was removed to the hospital. Kelly is 22 years of age, single and lives at the northwest corner of Third and Lawrence streets.

PROSPECTS OF A STRIKE.

Ohio Coal Operators Will Not Submit to the Demands of the Miners.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 28.—A determined stand was taken by the Ohio coal operators in a largely attended meeting here yesterday, against the dictates of the miners in their convention of last week. It is the feeling of the majority of operators that they would rather go into a strike than to submit to the demands of the miners under the leadership of their present state officers, who they regard as inferior to their predecessors, too dictatorial and unfit to be leaders of the men.

The operators will oppose the eight-hour day and half holiday on Saturdays, will not consent to the weighing of coal before screened. They claim that the miners have failed to bring Indiana and Illinois operators up to the scale adopted last spring.

Accidental of an Alleged Dynamiter.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Jan. 28.—The trial of Willard Thrasher, one of the three alleged dynamiters of Brookfield, which commenced last Tuesday, ended in the acquittal of the defendant. Sheldon Wagner is a prominent merchant of Brookfield and has always borne a sterling character. The two Thrasher boys were his clerks and were charged with blowing up the mill at the instance and request of Wagner. A detective by the name of Hobbs, of Indianapolis, claimed to have extorted from Willard Thrasher a confession of the crime by employing him to sell stolen goods, instituted the proceedings and involved the best citizens of the village in the controversy.

Long Strike Ended.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 28.—The long and hot contested strike of the employees of the P. Cox shoe company, which has been on since May 29, 1890, has come to an end. By the terms of the settlement the company is to retain all the non-union employees at present in its service, but agrees to give the preference to the ex-strikers in filling all vacancies that may occur. None of the old hands have as yet returned to work, but all present vacancies will be filled from their numbers. It will be remembered that it was the refusal of the union to declare this strike off which precipitated the great lock-out, in which twenty factories of this city were affected last December.

Her Clothing Lined With Money.

TIFFIN, O., Jan. 28.—Elizabeth Sheer, an aged widow, died here yesterday in an apparently impecunious condition. When preparing the body for burial a large amount of valuables, consisting of bills, certificates of deposit and notes were found sewed into her underclothing. The woman was without children or other known relatives.

Youngest Ticket-Seller in America.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Jan. 28.—Willie Marsh, son of J. F. Marsh, ticket agent of the Big Four railroad at Columbus, Ind., was 8 years old last Sunday, and for two years past has sold most of the local tickets, making change as correctly as an old and experienced hand. He accompanied the ticket agents on their excursion to Florida in February last, and stood the trip well. He is the youngest ticket-seller in America.

GLASGOW STRIKERS.

They Resort to Mob Violence While Masked.

SEVERAL PEOPLE ARE INJURED.

Trains Captured and Engines Derailed. An African King Applies to France for a Guillotine for His Unruly Subjects.

Another Battle, in Which the Egyptians Are Victorious—Latest from the Chilian Uprising—Terrible Dynamite Explosion in Hanover—Other Foreign News.

GLASGOW, Jan. 28.—Yesterday morning a mob of masked strikers, armed with sticks and stones, attacked and severely beat a gang of men who were at work in and near the locomotive shed of the Caledonian railroad at Strathaven. The rioters broke a number of windows, drove the non-union workmen away, and then ran one of the engines into a turntable pit and derailed another locomotive.

At Wemyss bay the strikers have gathered in the neighborhood of the railroad bridges over the Firth of Forth, from which point of vantage they bombard with stones the engineers and firemen of passenger trains, some of whom have been injured. Below Greenock yesterday, the railroad tracks were found to have been smeared over with soft soap, making impossible the passage of trains until the rails had been washed.

An Egyptian Victory.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Egyptians have gained an important advantage over the disorganized forces of the Mahdists. A force of Egyptian cavalry and infantry captured Handoub, the commander returning to Suakin after the victory, but leaving a battalion to occupy the place. Not an Egyptian was killed, but the rebels suffered severe losses. Should the Egyptians hold Handoub and capture Tokar the trade with the interior would revive and the Sudan again be in communication with Egypt. The dervishes raided cattle near Suakin this morning, but the cavalry pursued them and recaptured the cattle and forty of the raiders. In the fight two Egyptians were killed. The number of dervishes killed is unknown.

The King Wants a Guillotine.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Advices from West Africa state that the King of Dahomey has applied to the French authorities at Kotonou for a guillotine which he proposes to set up at his capital, Abomey, for the more expeditious slaughter of those who fall under his displeasure. It appears that the king, who was educated in France, was personally impressed while there with what he heard of the guillotine, and has since concluded to introduce it in his dominions. The French hesitate to comply with the request on the ground of the uses to which the instrument would be put in the slaughter of innocent victims.

The Chilian Uprising.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Advices from Chili make Balmaceda's resignation probable. The government is said to be secretly endeavoring to obtain more favorable terms from the rebel leaders, but the latter are inexorable in insisting on the immediate convening of the cortes, perfect freedom at the coming elections and the resignation of the supreme chief, as Balmaceda is legally called. The insurgent leaders profess to be acting in behalf of and by authority of the cortes.

Sultan of Vito Dead.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Advices from Zanzibar state that Fume Bakari, Sultan of Vito, is dead, having died a natural death, and his younger brother has been chosen by the Vito people to succeed him. The English destroyed the sultan's residence and offered a reward of 10,000 rupees for his capture, on account of the killing of some Germans at his palace.

European Weather.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Bright sunshine prevails in England, France and Austria, and the thaw continues to be rapid. In Germany, especially in the western part, the floods have been most disastrous. In eastern Germany and Berlin terrific snow storms are raging, and numerous wrecks are reported on the Lonian sea.

Terrible Dynamite Explosion.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—A terrible dynamite explosion is reported from the town of Hamburg, on the south branch of the Elbe in Hanover, where the government has a factory for the manufacture of explosives. The buildings were utterly wrecked, and two persons were killed.

INVESTING MILLIONS.

The Vanderbilts Purchasing Mining Property in Michigan.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 28.—The negotiations now pending for the purchase by the Vanderbilts of several of the Northern Michigan iron mines, now controlled by the Schlesinger syndicate, will involve a consideration of several millions of dollars. If the sale is consummated, the Blochreider banking house of Germany, which is behind the Schlesingers, will realize large profits on its investments. The Chapin mine alone, for which the syndicate paid $2,000,000, is held at $2,500,000. The other mines involved in the Vanderbilt deal are understood to be the Florence, Iron River, Youngstown and the East Negaunee group. They represent a valuation of $5,000,000.

Accidentally Shot.

TIFFIN, O., Jan. 28.—While flourishing a pistol in a playful manner, James Sweeney, night guard at the jail, shot John Herzog, a prominent business man, the ball striking him in the head, but glanced from the skull, producing a serious but not fatal wound.

EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1891.

TOM STEWART has got tired of booming Winchester and Eastern Kentucky and has set out to boom himself into the office of Lieutenant Governor. He has got a strong man to run against in Mitchell Alford.

THE Southern Steel Company of Chattanooga has given notice that, after February 1, the wages of men earning more than $1 a day will be reduced 10 percent. The company has decided to go into another kind of steel business.

THE treasury at Owensboro is empty, and nearly all the taxes have been collected. The city will not have enough money to pay the running expenses till June. The Inquirer says: "The city fathers will be required to do some financing of the very finest character, or the credit of the city will be below par at home if not abroad."

THE appropriations voted at the second session of the Fifty-first Congress already reach the enormous sum of $160,000,000 and only three appropriation bills have been put through. Democrats know the Democrats will put a check on extravagance in the next Congress, and this accounts, probably, for the recklessness of the G. O. P. at the present session.

THE Farmers' Alliance of Nicholas County has adopted resolutions condemning President Erwin for his course in the Growers' Association matter and called upon him to give explicit reasons, "well proven," for his action. This explanation must appear in the next issue of the State Union, failing which, the union calls upon the Executive Committee of the State Union to investigate Mr. Erwin.

"PLATT goes back to the United States Senate from Connecticut, and it is interesting to note how he does it," observes the Courier-Journal. "He received 141 votes, to 134 for the Democratic candidates. These are the votes of Senators and Representatives elected by the people of the towns."

"The 117 Democrats in the Lower House were elected by towns which cast 92,235 votes; the 133 Republicans by towns that cast 42,012 votes. The Democratic towns had 50,216 more votes than the Republican, but the Republicans have sixteen majority in the House. The Democrats have a majority in the Senate, but not sufficient to overcome this adverse majority in the House, and Mr. Platt goes to the United States Senate for six years more to vindicate the right of 42,000 people in Connecticut to rule 92,000."

Salaries of City Officials.

"Tax-payers" inquire about the salaries of the city officials. The Mayor receives $100 a year and certain fees; the Marshal, $40 a month and certain fees; the five night police, $40 a month each; the Collector and Treasurer, $500 a year and 12 1/2 per cent. commission on all delinquent taxes he collects; the Clerk, $500 a year and certain fees; the Assessor, $150 a year and $3 a day for every day he attends at the session of the Board of Equalization; the members of Council, each $2 for every regular and adjourned meeting; the City Prosecutor, $100 a year and 20 per cent. of the fines in the Mayor's court when he personally appears and prosecutes; the Wharfmaster, 10 per cent. of wharfage collected; and the Wood and Coal Inspector gets certain fees.

Down Go Wages.

"Reductions in wages in the Ishpeming and Gogebic iron regions were noticed in this paper last week," says the National Democrat. "A dispatch from Patterson, N. J., January 15, says: 'Eighty-five weavers, employed at the Clay & Groncock Silk Mill, are on a strike. A reduction of 7 1/2 per cent. has been made on satin gros grain goods by the firm, and the employees refuse to accept the new terms. A similar reduction for that class of goods has been unopposedly accepted by the weavers of the Meding Mills.' The employees of the Camberia Iron Company, according to a dispatch from Pittsburg, have been notified of a reduction of 10 per cent. in their wages, beginning February 1st. This will affect 5,000 men, from workers to miners. The wages of the puddlers employed at the Glasgow Iron Works and Ellis & Lessig's Iron and Steel Works, Pittsburg, will be reduced on February 1. A dispatch from Findlay, Ohio, January 20, says:

"All the employees of the great pottery of Bell Bros. in this city, walked out on a strike yesterday afternoon because of a cut in the wage schedule, which the managers refuse to restore to the old figures. Over 100 men and women are out, and the pottery is closed. The strikers have telegraphed the officers of their union to keep new hands from coming here to take their places. The Bell works belong to recently organized pottery trust."

"Thus it is being manifested day after day that the Republican claims that a high tariff insures high wages is not true. The McKinley bill is still in effect."

CITY TAXES.

The Limit Fixed by the Constitutional Convention—Provisions Adopted Regarding Elections

The subject of taxation occupied a good deal of the time of the Constitutional convention yesterday and the day before. The section as finally adopted is as follows:

"The tax rate of cities, towns, counties, taxing districts and other municipalities, for other purposes than school purposes, shall not at any time exceed the following rates upon the value of the taxable property therein, viz: For all towns or cities having a population of 15,000 or more, and not less than 10,000, $1 on the hundred; for all towns or cities having less than 10,000 and not less than 4,000, 75 cents on the hundred dollars, unless it should be necessary to enable such city, town, county or taxing district to pay the interest on and provide a sinking fund for the extinction of indebtedness contracted before the adoption of this Constitution."

Section 8 was then disposed of. It governs the election of city officers. It provides that Mayors, Police Judges, Councilmen and school boards of towns and cities shall be elected by the qualified voters of the whole city. The terms of all except school boards shall be four years. No Mayor, chief executive or fiscal officer shall be eligible for a second term. The only officials eligible for reelection are Auditors and Assessors. The last section of the chapter, as adopted, prescribes that when a man shall be convicted in a municipal court it shall be a bar to a future prosecution in any other court.

The chapter on the judiciary is now under consideration.

In the old cook-stove, so's it won't stop.
An' git all spilt; new laves it so.
It's custard pie, first thing you know!
An' she'll say:
"Clear out the way!
They's time for work an' time for play,
Take yer dough an' run, child, run;
Er I can't git no cookin' done!"

When our hired girl, tends like she's mad,
An' says folks got to walk the chalk,
When she's around, or wished they had!
I play on my porch, an' talk
To th' Raggedy Man 'at mows our lawn;
An' he says "Whew!" an' an' men lean on
His old crook-scythe, an' plinks his eyes
An' sniffs all 'round an' says, "I swan!
Ef my old nose don't tell me lies,
It 'pears like I smell custard pie!"
An' she'll say:
"Clear out the way!
They's time for work an' time for play,
Take yer dough and run, child, run;
Er she can't git no cookin' done!"
—James Whitcomb Riley in the Century.

No Choice.

A partisan inevitably weakens his position when he gives the other side a chance to retort. Such an opportunity was unwittingly afforded by an English clergyman who hoped that three noted statesmen in whom he believed, might "all hang together."

"Amien!" fervently responded a member of the opposite party.

"I mean," said the minister in haste, "that they may hang together in accord and concord."

"It doesn't matter what sort of a cord it is," was the immediate reply.—Exchange.

Glaciers Increasing.

Professor F. A. Forel reports that fifty-five glaciers of the Alps, including all those of Mount Blanc and a large proportion in the Bernese and Valais Alps, are increasing in size, two of the first rank having commenced a period of gain in 1889. With the exception of the Ortler group, all glaciers of the Austrian and Grison Alps are still receding or are stationary.

Steady Nerves.

An incident which took place at Plymouth, Mass., called for the possession of a good deal of pluck on the part of the two actors. A young man of about twenty was leading a bull that had always been peacefully inclined, when the animal seemed to be seized by a sudden fury, and made a lunge at him.

The stick which was fastened to a ring in the animal's nose snapped short in the young man's grasp, and almost before he knew what had happened he was thrown into the air from the bull's horns.

His clothing was torn nearly from his body, his cheek was cut open, and he was much bruised, but when he fell, almost under the feet of the bull, he had presence of mind enough to realize that his only safety lay in keeping so close to the head of the animal that he could not be thrown up again. He managed to get three flingers of his left hand into the ring in the bull's nose, while with his right hand he grasped one of the horns.

Meanwhile the farmer who owned the animal, and who is an excellent shot, had got a rifle from the house, and hastily put into it two cartridges. The young man, finding his strength failing, called out to the other to shoot.

"Fire, for pity's sake!" he said. "I can't hold on much longer."

The bull, astonished by the clutch of his victim, had for a moment stopped, but when he should again start there would be small chance of the life of the young man. The animal stood so that his forehead was presented to the farmer, but the young man's head was within a few inches of the spot where the bullet must strike.

"If I fire," the farmer called, "the ball may flatten on the bone and kill you on the rebound."

"Fire anyway, and quick," the other cried out, as the bull showed signs of moving.

The farmer put his rifle to his shoulder and fired. The shot was so true that the bull dropped in his tracks without a struggle.—Youth's Companion.

Trapped.

In "Joins in Our Social Armor," recently published, there is a characteristic and amusing anecdote of the cunning, cat-like Charles Greville. He was very old, and had gone to see a spiritualistic "medium," who was attracting fashionable London.

The charlatan looked at the gray, worn old man, and thought himself safe. Four other visitors attended the seance, but "medium" bestowed all his attention on Greville. With much emotion, he cried, "There is an angel lady behind your chair!" Greville remarked sweetly, "How interesting!"

"She is very, very like you!"

"Who can it be?" murmured Greville.

"She lifts her hands to bless you. Her hands are now resting on your head!" shouted the medium, and the pallid, emotionless man said, with a slight tremor in his voice, "Pray tell me who this mysterious visitant may be!"

"It is your mother,"

"Ah," said Greville, "I am delighted to hear that!"

"She says she is perfectly happy, and she watches you constantly."

"Dear soul!" muttered the imperturbable one.

"She tells me you will join her soon, and be happy with her."

Then Greville said gravely, in dulcet tones, "That is extremely likely, for I am going to take tea with her at 5 o'clock!"

He had led on the poor swindler in his usual fashion, and never hinted at the fact that his mother was nearly a century old.

Lakes That Have Been Drained.

Whittlesea Mere, a considerable lake in Cambridgeshire, England, has been drained within the memory of living men, and its bed is covered with excellent farms, but Whittlesea West is still semi-lacustrine. Geologists in England have given the name of Lake Cheviot to a prehistoric lake basin in Northumberland. That region, long before the advent of man, was the site of several rather large lakes. But its existing lakes are small and not very many. Not far from the Churnon river there are certain salt plains which are said to mark the site of a former lake. The celebrated Lake Regillus, where the gods fought for the Romans against the Latins, no longer exists. It is conjectured that it was artificially drained.

A marshy lake once stood near Canarium, in Sicily. The people of the town consulted the oracle as to the propriety of draining the lake, and got for a reply, "Do not disturb Canarina." The meaning of this Delphic deliverance being doubtful, they went to work and drained the lake. Not long after the town's enemies captured the city, and so "Don't disturb Canarina" became a proverb, as much as to say, "Let well enough alone." Three years ago a lake in the Moosejaw district, near Ottawa, Canada, which was more than a mile in circumference, disappeared entirely from some cause. A farmer purchased the lake bottom and raised a magnificent crop of wheat upon it.—American Notes and Queries.

About Poor Teeth.

Abscessed teeth, especially in the back of the mouth, and more especially in the lower jaw, should not be left in the mouth after a reasonable amount of skillful treatment has failed to control the discharge of pus. Chronic abscesses discharging pus, which is swallowed with the saliva, are too frequently allowed to pass unnoticed, and serious derangements may arise from this constant assimilation of a septic poison. If the abscess cannot be cured extract the tooth.

As to when to extract teeth I have only to say that once it is decided to have the tooth removed, the sooner it is done the better. If it is designed to take gas the dentist should not be visited immediately after a meal, as the presence of food in the stomach is likely to result in nausea and vomiting, which is unpleasant for both the patient and the operator. Take gas on an empty stomach.—A Dentist in New York Herald.

The coasters of the Fiji Islands will not eat until they can sit that upon the ground directly over a triangle made of three small fishbones; then they only handle the food with the left hand.

The inhabitants of the interior of the same Islands will not partake of food while a cloud is in sight, especially if the cloud lies in the west, fearing that the "Great Air Whale," whose belching (thunder) is often heard in that country, will pounce upon and utterly annihilate them for such irreverence.—St. Louis Republic.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

HILENA.

Beautiful weather—spring like.
Born, to the wife of W. S. Layton, January 27th, a girl.
Several of our citizens took in County Court at Flemingsburg Monday.

Mr. Granda and daughter, of the State of Lewis, were the guests of S. H. Harrison, Saturday and Sunday.

One of our town boys made a trip to the county of Lewis Saturday, and it is rumored he is to be married in the holy bonds of matrimony to one of Lewis' fair daughters February 11th—St. Valentines Day.

In memoriam to daughter of John R. Mitchell, who departed this life January 18, 1891, aged three years.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word:
Must we forever part?
Dearest loved one we have laid thee
In the peaceful grave's embrace,
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thee heavenly face.

GERMANTOWN.

Isaac Woodward spent several days in Sardis last week.

S. D. Rigdon and W. P. Dickson have returned from Cincinnati.

Miller & Plunkard's new grist, feed and picket mill is in operation.

Misses Ella Hackett and Ella Flinn, of Brooksville, were here Monday.

Chas. Collins and Paris Owens, bicyclists from Mt. Olive, spent Sunday here.

Mr. Plunkard, our accommodating (Maysville line) bus driver, is on the sick list.

Miss Maud Reynolds, a very pretty miss from Minerva, is the guest of Miss Mary Walton.

Mrs. W. C. Johnson and children spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Ben Tyler, at Mt. Olive.

Essex's luncher shop will reopen Saturday. It is to be hoped that foreign meat market wagons will go.

Some smooch of Fern Leaf will go into one of our business firms as a partner in the near future.

One of our most popular firms, Messrs. Woodward & Johnson, are closing out at cost, and offering some rare bargains in all goods that they sell.

Our band has received a large package of the very latest music, and an excellent trombone has been added to their number. In Mr. Duke Elliott. To say they are on the improve hardly expresses it.

The Brooksville Dramatic Club, who rendered "The Flying Bow" very creditably here last winter, will in the near future visit us again. Their play is entitled "Julia's Trials," and the club is composed solely of ladies.

Mr. John Thomas died Tuesday, January 27th, and was buried at the cemetery next day.

Mr. Pollock was formerly a very active citizen of this place, and had been Trustee, Marshal and Constable, and was esteemed by all who knew him. About nine years ago he was stricken with paralysis, from which time he has never left the house only when carried or driven by friends to the polls, as he was a true Democrat and always voted. He was very patient throughout his entire sickness, no murmur ever escaping him about his condition. He was aged sixty-five. His family desire to return their thanks to the whole community for their kindness and assistance to them in their affliction.

MAYSVILLE.

The effects of George W. Fraisher, deceased, will be sold at public outcry on February 5th.

Last Sunday every pulpit in this place, seven in number, was filled—something unusual.

Professor Milton Johnson has the banner school of the county. He has an average of over eighty-five scholars regularly.

Mrs. Jane Groves, who has been so poorly for some weeks, is thought to be improving slowly, and there are some hopes of her recovery.

We had a big excitement in this place last Sunday afternoon. A mad dog passed through and bit three other dogs. People on foot, horseback and in buggies pursued the mad animal and killed him about a quarter of a mile out of town. The cure that were bitten were promptly killed also.

Public announcement was made last Sunday that Thomas P. Hopper and Miss Mary Robb will be married February 3rd, at the bride's home near Helena Station. The groom is our postmaster, and the bride-to-be one of the belles of her neighborhood. She is a daughter of Wm. Robb, one of our best citizens.

Colonel Charles M. May, once the most popular teacher in this county but for years past sorely afflicted, died on the 21st instant in this place and was buried at Flemingsburg. His life was a checked one, but a kinder-hearted man never lived. He was highly respected by all who knew him, and he had many warm friends wherever he lived.

SCHOOL NOTES.

KEY NO. 58.

Here we had another very pleasant visit. An admirable school house, quite new, very comfortable and well furnished. Teacher and pupils take pride in keeping the room in nice order. The floor looked as bright as a new dollar.

The trustees are James Key, Graham Lee and Rev. Bela Metcalfe, and it is very evident that they are efficient. The teacher is Miss Mary Keith Green. We heard recitations from a class of eleven scholars in spelling, and a juvenile class in same study. We had a display of map drawing which was very good. Heard classes in arithmetic to Ray's third, geography, history, U. S. civil government, two classes in physiology, reading classes, first to sixth reader.

The general interest and attention of the pupils gave evidence of good training. Miss Green has her large school under excellent control, and the pupils are much attached to her, as they are likely to be to teachers who command the respect and confidence of their scholars.

Our address was longer than it is our custom to make to the schools, as the class in civics expressed a desire to hear the question of "tariff" elucidated—not as a political, but as a civil question. This we gave them in its plain language as we could command. The pupils all paid excellent attention. This is really a very interesting school, and when the trustees complete a neat fence to enclose the grounds and plant some trees, it will be one of the most attractive in the county. We were gratified by the attendance of Mr. Graham Lee during our visit. It is very desirable that this school shall retain Miss Green, and I have no doubt they will endeavor to do so. They ought to have a spring term.

How to Break Up a Severe Cold.

[From the Virginia (Mont.) Madisonian.]

When we find a medicine we know to possess genuine merit, we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. By the use of this syrup we have relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely broken them up, as has several of our friends to whom we have recommended it. It is all it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work. For sale by Power & Reynolds, druggists.

NOTICE.—G. A. McCarthy, agent, has opened a stock of watches, clocks and jewelry in Hamilton's old stand, on Second Street. He will be pleased to have everybody call on him. All kinds of repairing done and warranted. Prices low.

It was shown that physiologically liquor is the deadliest of enemies to the human body—its purity and healthfulness; psychologically, liquor ruins man's intellectual and moral powers; domestically, liquor is the most terrible enemy of the peace and purity of the home; governmentally and economically, the liquor traffic corrupts and debauches our government, defying national law and defeating popular will, and religiously, the liquor traffic is avowedly and universally the bitter and determined foe of the Christian church and its divine aims.—Courier-Journal.

A Rule Issued Against the Court of Claims.

Judge Cole has ordered that a rule be issued against the Magistrates of the county—members of the Court of Claims—to show cause why the drains and sewers leading from the county jail shall not be placed in proper order and condition. The rule is returnable on the first day of the April term.

The grand jury recommended that the county judge have the repairs made without going to the expense of calling the Magistrates together. It would cost over $100 to hold a day's session of the Court of Claims and this might as well be saved and expended on the sewers.

NEW SENATORS.

William A. Peffer Will Succeed Senator Ingalls—Other Contests.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 28.—William A. Peffer received the full Democratic and Alliance vote and was nominated for senator yesterday to succeed Senator Ingalls. In the house the ballot for senator resulted as follows: Peffer 96, Ingalls 22, C. W. Blair 5. In the senate: Ingalls 35, Peffer 2.

William Alfred Peffer was born in Cumberland county, Pa., Sept. 10, 1831. He is of Dutch parentage. He is a self-made man. His schooling of seven months a year was obtained before the age of 15. At that age he was made master of a small district, school and taught there until he was 17. In 1850 he caught the gold fever and went to California. He made considerable money and returned to Pennsylvania in 1852. There he married Sarah Jane Barber and removed to Indiana. He engaged in farming near Crawfordsville. There business reverses impoverished him and he went to southwest Missouri, where he continued a farmer.

At the breaking out of the war he enlisted in the volunteers, and served until June 26, 1865, having been detailed principally on detached duty as quartermaster, adjutant and judge-adjutant. During the two latter years of his service he devoted himself to the study of law.

At the close of the war he settled at Clarksville, Tenn., practicing law; remained there until 1870, and then moved to Kansas, taking up a claim in Wilson county. He moved to Fredonia in 1878 and there established The Fredonia Journal, a weekly newspaper, at the same time continuing his law practice.

General Vilas Elected.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 28.—The vote for United States senator yesterday resulted: Senate, William F. Vilas 16, John C. Spooner 11. House, Vilas 66, Spooner 24. Gen. Vilas was secretary of the interior in Cleveland's cabinet. Mr. Spooner, defeated Republican candidate, is the present senator from Wisconsin.

Deadlock Unbroken.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 28.—Both houses of the legislature met in joint session at noon and took the thirty-second senatorial ballot, which resulted as follows: Palmer, 101; Oglesby, 100; Streeter, 3. No choice.

He at once drew his revolver and fired four shots at Laforce, but none of them took effect. Peter Lykle, a bystander, was hit in the side by a ball and badly injured. McKee was run down by a policeman, arrested and lodged in jail, where he will await trial for assault with intent to kill. The two are enemies, Laforce's time having just expired in the county jail, where he was sentenced four months for cutting McKee with a knife.

HOW A BULLET TRAVELS.

An Explanation for Its Three and Some- times Four Different Motions.

Howard Carr, an authority on shooting and a gentleman well informed on all matters of detail pertaining to the ball's eye, gave a reporter some interesting information on the queer actions of a bullet after being discharged from the muzzle of a gun.

A bullet, he declared, sighted for 1,000 yards has three separate and distinct motions, and in cases where the stubby and blunt express lead is used it has four. The first is its velocity or straight motion of journey; the second is the rotary motion, caused by the bore of the gun, which makes it plow through the air, and the third is the trajectory motion, or drift, attributable to the attraction of gravity, which forces the bullet sideways. When the express bullet is used it follows a line similar to the edge of a corkscrew. The latter is ascribable to the extra friction on the bottom of the ball, which is constantly lowering.

I had this illustrated by placing sheets of paper forty yards apart on a level, and the course of the bullet could be seen by collecting the papers and laying them one over the other.

A ball has a large drop when traveling any great distance. For instance, take 1,000 yards. The bullet, if keeping the course it originally started out to follow, would land a distance of over 235 feet above the bull's eye. But it starts to drop immediately after leaving the muzzle of the gun, and at between 550 and 600 yards the ball is only sixty feet above the line of the bull's eye, and a considerable distance below the line of sight. At 200 yards it has decreased in proportion, and the aim is only forty inches above the bull's eye, but at 500 yards it is over sixteen feet.

It takes about three seconds for a ball to travel 1,000 yards with an ordinary charge of powder behind it. The first second it travels 1,500 feet. In the next second it travels only three-quarters of that distance, and in the third second it travels only one-half as much as it did when leaving the muzzle.

I made the claim here a short time ago that a ball made more revolutions—that is, its rotary motion increased in proportion to the distance it traveled—as it approached the target, than it did in the 100 yards immediately after leaving the muzzle, and I will explain. The friction of the atmosphere does not lessen the rotary motion as fast in proportion to the distance it has traveled as it does its flight through the atmosphere; consequently, while in the last 100 yards the ball is only traveling at a rate just one-half of its original speed, the rotary motion is just as great, and having more time makes more revolutions.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Neglected Childhood.

Paternal care had not yet come into fashion; the fashion was, indeed, the reverse when I was a child. Thus my early years were cheerlessly spent in an outlying district of Paris. At the age of 4 I was still there when I accidentally fell from the top of a cupboard and dislocated my foot. The woman to whose care I was intrusted only informed my family of this several months afterward. The truth became known only when my parents sent for me to go to Perigord to visit Mme. de Chalais, my grandmother, who had expressed a wish to see me. Although Mme. de Chalais was my great-grandmother I always called her grandmother, very likely, I think, because that name implied a closer relationship. The dislocation of my foot had been neglected too long to be remedied; even my other foot, having had to bear alone the whole weight of my body, had grown weaker, and thus I remained lame for life.

That accident had a great influence over my after life. It indeed led my parents to think I was unfit for a military career, or at least that in such I should labor under great disadvantages. They were thus induced to seek for me some other profession, which in their eyes would be best calculated to serve the interests of the family, for in great families the family was far more cared for than its members individually, chiefly those young members who were still unknown. These considerations are rather painful to my mind, so I will not dwell further on them.—Talleyrand's Memoirs in Century.

New Year Observances.

A journal of Queen Anne's time tells us that oranges stuffed with cloves were a common New Year's gift, as was also a gilt nutmeg. The people paraded the streets dressed in their best clothes, invariably carrying a Kentish pippin in their hands, or oranges.

The Jews celebrate the first day of the month, Tisri, in much the same fashion, giving entertainments and exchanging gifts.

Curious customs prevail in almost all countries. Hosiophilus says that in Rome in his day no fare was permitted to be carried out of the house, nor any kind of iron or brass work, and under no circumstances could a loan be made, even to relatives.

The Persians celebrate the day by extensive agricultural ceremonies, as also do the Chinese. The earth is blessed and the sun invoked with great pomp.—Philadelphia Times.

A Story from a Studio.

"I must tell you a good story on a young student in my place," said an artist whose studio is on State street. "You mustn't use my name, for I don't want to injure the young man. He had expressed a wish to make some scriptural paintings, and I told him to go ahead. He selected for his subject the killing of Abel by Cain. On the whole it was creditable, except for some innovations. For instance, he had put a sandbag in the hand of Cain, and in the background he had a patrol wagon coming to the scene full tilt, drawn by a camel. I would have given money to retain that painting, but the young artist destroyed it in spite of my remonstrances and offers.—Chicago Tribune.

An interesting disclosure was recently made when the organ of Vine Street Congregational church in Cincinnati was removed from the rear to the front of the auditorium. Midway between ceiling and floor, on either side of the recess, were two doors in the wall. These could only be reached by ladders. They open into the rooms which, in the days before the war, were used as stations of the "underground railway." Here fugitives from across the Ohio were secreted until they could be spirited on by night toward the waters of Erie.—Christian Union.
